Information We Collect & How We Use It

For each visitor to our Web page, our Web server automatically recognizes only the consumer's domain name but not the e-mail address (where possible).

We collect information volunteered by the visitor, such as survey information, programming requests, and mailing list signups.

The information we collect is used to provide information and services to registrants according to their requests and to conduct the business of the organization. Operation Snowball, Inc. and the Illinois Teen Institute will not sell your information to other businesses or organizations.

We will perform mailings or other communications to our mailing lists upon request of select government, corporate, and nonprofit partners in circumstances that advance the mission of the organization. We do not sell any of the names, e-mail addresses, or other information that we collect.

Aggregate Information Collected from the Web Server

We collect anonymous information from our Web server about your visit to our site in order to monitor general traffic patterns on our site. We compile and analyze this information using Google Analytics software. Reports generated by Google Analytics include information such as the following:

- total number of visitors
- most visited pages
- peak traffic time
- browser versions
- search terms used
- average number of pages requested
- average duration of visit
- total visitor traffic

Data Security

To prevent unauthorized access, maintain data accuracy, and ensure the correct use of information, we strive to maintain physical, electronic, and administrative safeguards to secure the information we collect online.

Links to Other Sites
